THE IMPACT ZONE

It's easy to get lost in the little things. Sometimes we can overlook the small blessings looking for the "Golden Buzzer" of blessing. Instant and apparent gratification is so addictive we often don't see the small things that have a big impact.

Recently, I was speaking with a young man named Raul in a chat about our new website. He was helping me with some of the compliance hoops we have to jump through to protect our supporters and our ministry. While we were reviewing the site and I was showing him our compliance, he made the following comment, "Your website looks clean and professional." The poor guy then had to hear me drone on for ten minutes about how God blessed us with Christina (our website designer) and her abilities. When we were done, we simply disconnected the chat, and I assumed we both went on about our day. Until this morning...

As I was starting my day (to reach out to potential supporters) my phone made this weird ringing sound. It was our Google Voice phone line which I thought was set to "Do Not Disturb". I took the call anyway, expecting it to be some kind of marketing call. Imagine my surprise when a voice said, "Hi Russell, this is Raul from WIX. Do you have a minute to answer a personal question?" Not realizing what he was asking I chimed in, "Sure. What's going on?" I spent the next ten minutes listening to Raul as he told me he grew up in a traditional Hindu home. He told me how he, his two sisters, and little brother grew up around the Hindu faith, but he always had more questions. After about a forty-minute conversation, I was able to answer some of his questions about Jesus. It just so happens that he lives in the Boulder area of Colorado, so I was able to refer him to a Life.Church campus there. I was even able to email the Campus Pastor there and let him know about Raul.

I'm not sure what will happen next, but it's because I was available to speak with Raul that he is now pursuing the truth of God. I have no doubt that it was time well spent. God is good, all the time!

People keep asking us when we're leaving to go to Scotland. Our answers have varied between, "By the end of the year", "January 2026 or sooner", or "As soon as we raise full support." We felt as though God wanted us to set a date, just like in Nehemiah 2:6 when King Artaxerxes asked Nehemiah, "...How long will your journey take, and when will you get back?" Well, Nehemiah saw that it pleased the king to send him on his journey, so he set a time.; likewise, we want to please our King, so we have purchased our plane tickets to move to Scotland on September 22, 2025!

Where Ancient Lands Meet a Living Faith

Have you seen our website yet? If not, you definitely need to take a look...it's amazing!!! We hired the most talented, kind, and professional lady named Christina, who created a website we could only dream of. She gathered our information and totally captured our hearts and vision, then turned that into a work of art. Click on the QR code to be taken directly to our website. If you or someone you know is in the market for some digital work to be done, let us know and we will hook you up with Christina. You won't regret it!

WE NEED YOUR HELP: Heart for Scotland Missions

When we answered the call to serve Jesus by laying down our nets and taking up our cross, we knew there were going to be challenges. One of those challenges is raising financial support. Raising funds for a boy scout to attend summer camp is nothing compared to the challenge of raising financial support for missions. We compiled a list of 126 people that we have a close relationship with and reached out to them. Many of those people we hadn't spoken to in years for a variety of reasons, but God is good! We have been blessed with 17 very generous monthly supporters and have about 14 others who want to support us but haven't made a commitment yet (a total of 31 supporters, if all committed to give as they said); however, to make our move in September, we need about 55 supporters. As of the end of April, we have nearly exhausted our personal list. Here's where you can help: if you know of anyone who has a heart for Scotland, the UK, or missions in general, could you either share their information with us, or refer them to us so that we can have a discussion? With God and your help, we can reach Scotland for Jesus! We appreciate you!
